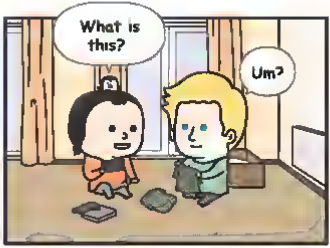
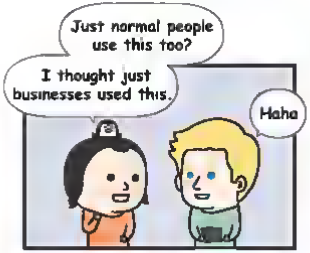
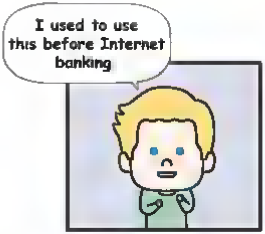
Cheque

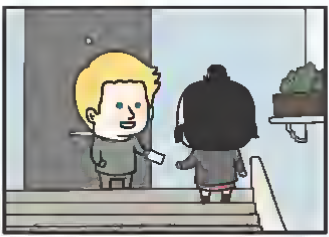


A long time ago,
Mev and I were tidying up some stuff.

We found Mev's old cheque book







When you want to pay someone, you write the information on it.

Then the person takes it to the bank and gets money.

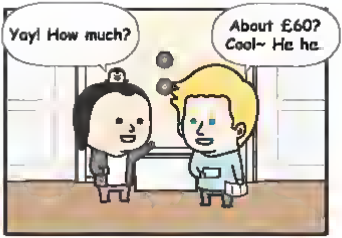
Anyway it looked interesting as cheque books aren't common in Korea.

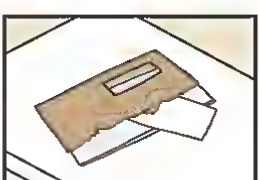
Then one day recently

I think it's to do with my car tax.
What is it?

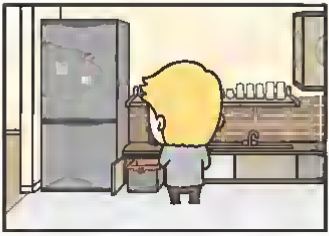
Oh, Penguin! You know
changed our car, so we're get some tax back.



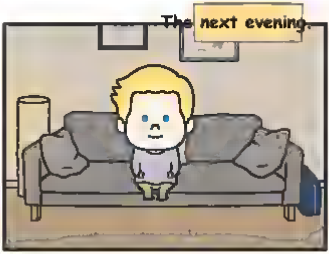
It was a letter from tax office.

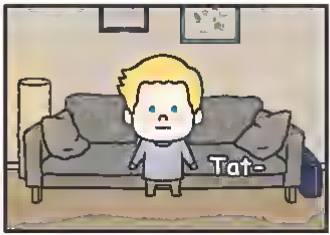


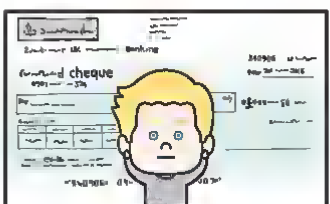
The letter and a paper that looked like a receipt had been on the table for a while.



And then they went into the bin one day







That was a CHEQUE.
